

As shown in the graph, the chosen input size was ranging from 0 - 250. You can see that bubble sort only performs better than quicksort in data sizes < 50. Therefore, the “small” input will be decided if it’s <50 or not to determine if bubble sort or quicksort is better to use.